

The WesternU Humanism SPG presents:

Connect for Equity & Inclusion Virtual Workshop

Led by Lee Gill, J.D., Clemson University's
Charles H. Houston Center

"There can be no respite in the work to create an environment where all students, faculty and staff are afforded the opportunity to maximize their potential for success.

Good can be made better.

Better can be made excellent.

Excellent can be made exceptional."

ALL SESSIONS NOON TO 3 P.M.

Administration

Wednesday, July 8

Students

Thursday, July 9

Staff

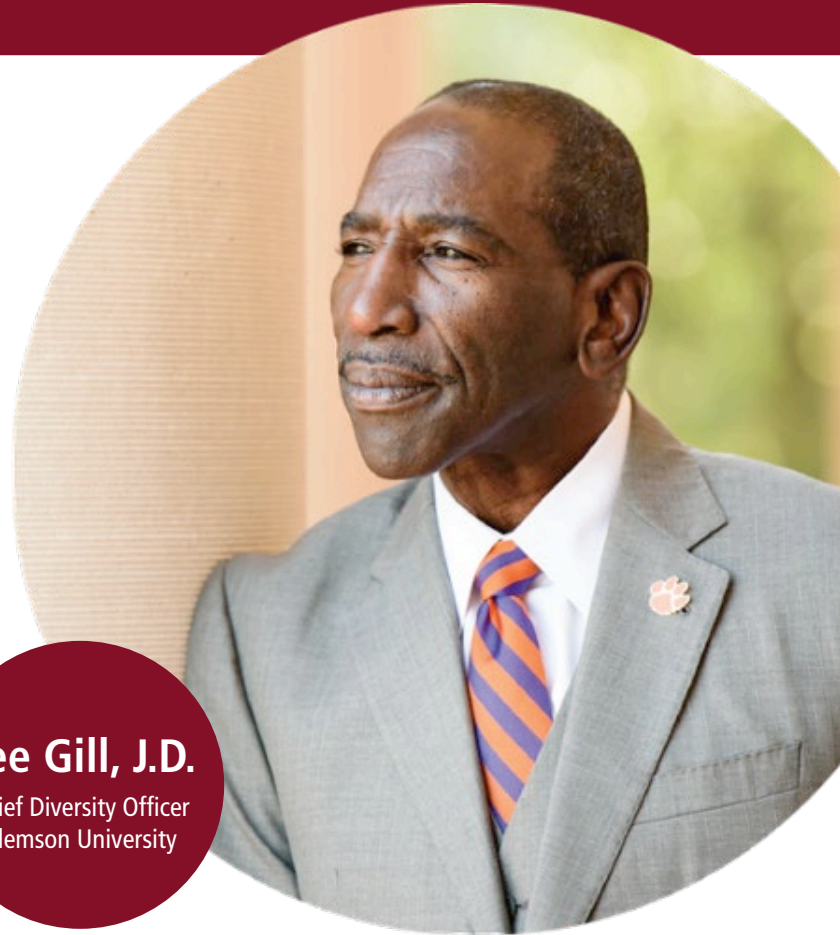

Friday, July 10

Faculty

Tuesday, July 14

Lee Gill, J.D.

Chief Diversity Officer
Clemson University

Clemson University's Charles H. Houston Center for the Study of the Black Experience in Education conducts research, disseminates information, evaluates inclusion and equity programs, assesses diversity goals, and implements academic engagement activities to inform the development of practices, policies, and scholarship impacting educational and workforce outcomes.

Western University
OF HEALTH SCIENCES

Together we face a significant challenge to address any systemic racism that exists in our University, our health care professions, and our communities to bring the policies, practices, and systemic changes that are necessary to enable social justice and the demise of health care disparities.

Email: OMI@westernu.edu